GRADING OPTIONS

Following the Covid-19 pandemic that is spreading all over the country, the top management of the University has taken swift action in implementing a crisis strategy to protect its stakeholders, namely the students.

Among the measures implemented is that students are given a choice of grading type for two consecutive semesters, namely A192 and A201. The implementation of grading options for these two semesters has benefited 1874 students with a variety of backgrounds.

After more than a year living with the new norm, the University is confident and believes that students have been able to adapt to online T&L sessions and be more mature in facing the future, in line with their status as students of Institutions of Higher Learning.

Thus, taking into account the performance of students in the past two semesters, the University has decided that this grading option will no longer be implemented starting semester A202.

Thank you for your time and attention.
