LATEST INFORMATION REGARDING UNDERGRADUATE CLASSES
AFTER A212 MID-SEMESTER VACATION

Referring to the University's decision through the announcement made on 18 February 2022 regarding the conduct of courses for Semester A212 which shall be conducted online for the first five (5) weeks of study from 27 March to 28 April 2022, the University Management has decided to continue conducting online lectures for a period of one week, that is, up to the sixth (6th) week which starts from 8 to 14 May 2022. Face-to-face lectures (for courses that have been set to face-to-face teaching) will only begin on 16 May 2022.

This is to give time for students to return to campus and participate in the process of Teaching and Learning (T&L) in a hybrid manner after the mid-semester break.

All parties are requested to take appropriate action to ensure that the T&L process runs smoothly.

Thank you for your time and attention
